DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 4-5 and 11 are again rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Yamashita (JP P2001-138117).

Yamashita teaches a including a wet suction device (33), transport means in a flow circuit (Fig. 6), a pump unit (5), a rinsing liquid device (Fig. 6), a catch trough (4), a transparent flexible hose (8), and a filter unit (18). Regarding the apparatus being a “modular expansion module modular assembly” having the intended use recited in the preamble, it is submitted that the limitation fails to breathe life and meaning into the claim, the claim does not rely on the preamble for completeness, and the recitation is one of intended use which fails to add structure to the “modular expansion module modular assembly” itself. If it is applicant's position that the preamble adds structure to the claim, it is submitted that the apparatus of Yamashita is capable of use as "a modular expansion module modular assembly" between a rock working tool and a catch trough.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed March 4, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant asserts that the amended independent claim overcomes the rejection by Yamashita. However, for the reasons provided above, the claim is not patentable over Yamashita.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
